Field Naming, Format and Content (including e-Content) Guidelines Convention Standard BSA Standard 01-12

Effective Date: October 1, 2012

Table of Contents

- Purpose
- Goals and Objectives
- Proposed Standard
- Technical Specifications
- Implementation

A. Purpose:

The purpose of the standard is to establish a common set of field names and guidelines used in the creation of copy content thus creating value and consistency for members of the industry.

The intent of this document is to clearly define the industry's best practice as it relates to content naming conventions (field names, character lengths and copy content, etc.).

This standard will help:

1. Reduce the variability in copy formats and the resulting rework required to format for multiple resellers.
2. Establish clearer names for critical content elements, reducing confusion among supply chain partners.
3. Improve efficiencies in the content pipeline that ensure persuasive content is viewed by the end user to ultimately stimulate sales.

B. Goals and Objectives:

This material is intended for members of the supply chain who wish to create and /or use copy in print, on websites and/or other applications.

The goal is to provide:

1. A set of consistent field names with guidelines for their use.
2. Best practices to encourage consistency in creating copy content that supports the field names and will be used throughout the supply chain.
3. Content providers with a “one time” efficient method of creating copy for use with all customers, thereby providing product information that ultimately allows for the best consumer shopping experience.
4. Downstream partners and content users more consistent copy content while reducing confusion caused by subjective interpretation – ultimately allowing them to surface this content in their print and online vehicles more effectively.

The guideline is to move all new content copy creation to the guidelines outlined below.

D. Technical Specifications:

1. Use the unit of measure (UOM) and most frequently used color codes (2 or 3 digit) provided by the Office Products Industry Data Standards initiative (OPIDS). A copy is attached; but please refer to www.opids.org for the most current version.

2. Special characters such as trademark and copyright symbols should be provided. There may be system limitations among downstream partners with these symbols that will need to be addressed on a case by case basis.
3. Prioritize copy content by supplying the most important information first.
4. Ensure that all relevant copy fields are written for the intended audience (usually the ultimate consumer).
5. To avoid any confusion the Global Trade Item Number (GTIN) formerly called the U.P.C., the manufacturer's item number and manufacturer's item name (all) should be used as the header in any records used to share content.

Implementation
